

Valdepena, Harvey Jerome

1. How can you help team members embrace the Law of the Big Picture? I can help my teammates embrace the Big Picture by constantly explaining how our individual tasks fit into our overall project goal so everyone sees the true value of their contribution.

2. How can you train yourself to always look at the big picture? I can train myself by regularly stepping back during my work to ask how my current task affects the team's entire timeline and end result rather than focusing only on my immediate to-do list.

3. What personal sacrifices will have to be made in order for the team to work together toward the Big Picture? To achieve our main goal, I must be willing to sacrifice my personal preferences, such as setting aside my usual workflow to adopt standard team processes that benefit everyone.
